WOOSUNG OUTER BAR. Alterations in the Aids to

Outer Bar. TA ITH reference to Notice to Mariners No. 167 (Special), dated the 6th

Ap. 1, 1903, Notice is hereby given that, owing to the narrowness of the present deep water channel across the Woosung Outer Bar, the following additions and alterations have been made in the Aids to Navigation. A WHITE POLE, surmounted by a circular shape, from which a Red Light is exhibited, has been erected on Princes' Wharf, which, when kept in line with Woosung Lighthouse, leads midway between the Lismore Wreck Light-boat and the 12-foot contour of the Woosung Spit, this being the line of deepest water. two lights in line bear S. 76° 33' W.;

The WOOSUNG LIGHT remains, White from the bank of the Yangtze to the N.W.-ward of the Lighthouse to S. 22° W. It has been altered to GREEN from S. 22° W. to S. 64° 50' W., and to RED from S. 64° 5J' W. to the left (or Western) bank of the Woosung River.

The FORT BUOY has been shifted 700 feet S. 47° 40' W. from its former position, and moored in 15 feet at Low Water of Spring Tides; from it, the Woosung Lighthouse now bears S. 87° W., distant 4.9

A 10-FOOT CONICAL BUOY painted in Red and Black Vertical Stripes and surmounted by, a Black Spherical Cage has been moored in 18 feet at Low Water of Spring Tides on the North-eastern edge of the Woosung Spit; and, from it, the Woosung Lighthouse bears S. 62° 15' W., distant 10.1 cables.

The least water at present on the line between the Outer end of Princes' Wharf and the 10-foot Buoy placed on the Northeastern edge of the Woosung Spit is 10 feet; and, on the eastern edge of the Green Sector, 11 feet at Low Water of Spring Tides. The OUTER BAR SIGNALS now indicate the depth of water in the line when Woosung Light and the Red Light on Princes' Wharf are in transit.

DIRECTIONS. As the narrow part of the deep water channel across the Woosung Outer Bar is | Boilers and Three wooden MASTS. abreast of the Lismore Wreck Light-boat, extending from 2 cables outside to 2 cables | Hongkong. inside of her, inward bound vessels can afford to open the leading marks to the ships as fit for further Sea Service. northward as soon at they are 2 cables inside the Light-boat. Outward bound vessels should steer to pass & cable off the Fort Buoy, and then gradually come on to the line of leading CAUTION. There is from 2 to 3 feet less water than that signalled between the 10-foot buoy off the Woosung Spit and a point 700 feet north of the Lismore Wreck Light-boat. Vessels toking up an anchorage outside Woosung are requested to avoid so doing near the line of the Oater Bar Leading

Marks. All bearings given are magnetic. T. J. ELDRIDGE,

A HARD CASE.

Much sympathy has been excited among those who are acquainted with the facts, for the widow of Mr Ferdinand Seeberg. died last February at Shanghai from an abscess on the liver, brought, on, according to medical opinion, by privations and hardship experienced during the siege. He was one of those who volunteered to carry dia. patches to Tangku in June, 1900, and set out in the Spray to go down the river, at very great risk. The Syray came to grief in the river channel, and the party took to the river banks, pushed on to Tangku in spite of their risks and privations, and reached that place very shortly after Mr James Watts had completed his famous journey. The pluck and determination shown by Mr Seeberg and his companions have never been called in question, and were in no sense lessened by the fact that Mr Watts proved the faster messenger. After the siege Mr and Mrs Seeberg left on a visit to America and France, returning in 1901. when Mr Sceberg, who held a position on the outdoor staff of the Maritime Customs, was transferred to Ningpo. An indemnity claim of a considerable amount was put in by Mr Seeberg after the siege, and was forwarded to the American Minister, Mr Seeberg having been long resident in America. Owing to some difficulty, however, in proving the nationality of the deceased, nothing appears to have been done with the claim, and Mrs Seeberg appears destined to suffer the loss. not only of her husband, but of all monetary compensation for losses maintained before his death. Had he lived, no doubt the question of nationality would have been satisfactorily settled by his own efforts; he would have known where to look for such papers and documents as are necessary in these cases. The position of the widow is deeply distressing. She is deprived, in fact, of every means of support. The American Minister, Mr. Conger, wrote that he was 'personally cognisant of Mr. Sceberg's ability and intelligent and Mornison Hill Gap. New four roomed gratuitous service to Americans and American interests,'-but he can do nothing. The Customs, to whom he rendered faithful service, have done nothing. Owing to Mr. Seeberg's transfer from Tientein after some 762 five or six years' residence, many of his friends lost sight of him, and his widow, who is at present staying in Tientsin, is now left, not without friends but without any official encouragement to pursue he claims, and is probably without exception the heaviest loser, by the siege, among all! the foreigners who hore the Boxer attack. -China Times, 6th April.

'RAGGING' REMINISCENCE.

Usually a subalterns' court-martial is a huge, if sometimes rather rude, joke, and it is the exception and not the rule for the victim to suffer real indignity. The spirit of the proceedings, indeed, may be gauged from the form of oath administered generally on Ruff's Guide-to witnesses. It runs as follows: The evidence you shall give before this court shall be anything but the truth. So help you Jorrocks!' The following is fairly typical of the punish." ments inflicted in cases where the offender has been guilty of nothing worse than a breach of the Mess Rules -- a copy of which is given to every officer on joining. The Court had found the prisoner guilty of the heinous offence of 'going to bed whilst a regimental guest remained it the Mess'-no one, of course, is obliged to sit up for the private guest of an individual-and had very rightly sentenced the trembling culprit to death. The president, however, in his elemency, and in consideration of the prisoner's 'youth and extreme idiocy, quashed the sentence, to the great indignation of the audience, and substituted the following: You shall be taken by the scruff of the neck to the landing outside Major B------'s quarters, (Major B---- was a respected but highly irascible field officer), where you will be securely tied to the banisters, and you will then, under pain of instant execution, lift up your voice, and sing "Come into the garden, Maud," for so long as "Hell-fire Jimmy" will let you.' This sentence was duly carried out, and I may say that in response to the singer's impassioned, if rather His rhetoric surpassed our wildest anticipations .- M. A. P.

The fact that he faced Lord Roberts demonstrates the indignation of a proud and sensitive man at the charges which had been made against him. The French authorities with great tact

LONDON LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

London, March 20. With characteristic modesty, Mr. Chamberlain has declared that we must not put too high a value on the work he has accomplished in South Africa and that much depends upon whether the promises which Mr Hofmeyr and development of the great resources of our new possessions is the burying of racial animosities in the one desire to strengthen the great Empire of which South Africa now forms an important part. Imperialism, with its sweeping away of the petty disputes belonging to parochialism, should be the motto of English and Dutch alike, and if they keep this before them, there is every reason to believe that a splendid future awaits these fertile Colonies. Right royally has every class given welcome to the Colonial Secretary, both at Southampton, immediately on his arrival, and to day when he has been entertained at the Mansion House to luncheon after the formal presentation of an Address from the City at the Guildhall. The remark uttered by an enthusiastic workman on the watch to cheer the illustrious gentleman, was a portent of growing dissatisfaction with the thought of many and not one alone. duced him to try once again.

Happily the majority of English newspapers are conducted on lines of strict justice and impartiality, with an honest desire to harm no one; and this makes it all the more deplorable when a journal of an extremely, Radical tendency departs from this rule and publishes a base attack on the morals and general behaviour of the Prince of Wales. If it had been directed against anyone save His Royal Highness, we should have wondered at the bad taste and then ignored the article, but, and for this I can vouch, the Prince has never been known to gamble, and that Radvers Buller should know. The Gofar from being a profligate, as the Journal in question states, he takes a deep and extremely intelligent interest in politics, and particularly matters re lating to the Navy. His pleasures are of the manliest description, and he expedition, or talking over with some friend a burning question of the day There is no doubt that the Australian Tour greatly benefited His Royal Highness, who is always eager to learn about any new discovery or scheme relating to the domestic betterment of the peo- vessels will be sufficiently seaworthy to Royal children do not lack much in the way of pleasure, but the three eldest children of the Prince and Princess of Wales had the day of their lives when the King and Queen took them to the Wild West Show. It is to be presumed that, in common with other English children, they have thrilled over tales placards threaten 'death to the tyrant.'. of adventures and fights with Red Indians, but to actually see these fast disappearing warriors execute a blood curdling war dance must have afforded more delight than fifty lards Lilliputians Company was given last able 'Buffalo Bill,' afterwards showed Indian village, while little Princess Mary clung rather timorously to his finger. At the earnest request of Prince Edward, Johnny Baker, the wonderful dead shot, was presented to their Majesties, and two small Indian children them our most unstinted congratulations and to be got ready. They were able to keep proffered the Queen some flowers.

Following on the announcement that a warrant had been issued for the arrest of Mr Whitaker Wright, in connection with the alleged publication of a false in question was not to be found. It was immediately assumed that he was trying to evade the arm of the law, and the police authorities both at home and abroad were at once supplied with descriptions of the supposed fugitive. It it be true that Mr Wright's journey to America was not undertaken with the view of escaping enraged creditors, it is to be regretted that he did not remain a little while longer in England, until the storm had fairly blown over, and it is certain the unfortunate people who have lost their money would have preferred this course of action, rather than he should try by fresh schemes of company reconstruction to restore to them their losses -- a result which seems more than shadowy and vague. However, no trouble is anticipated as regards Mr Wright's extradition, when he will have the chance of proving what he so vehemently states, that he is more sinned against than sinning.

The celebrations of St. Patrick's Day his confréres, forsaking their hitherto this year have been more than usually hostile attitude towards British rule, auspicious, and the man without will be kept. The War Commission.

March 27 .- In giving evidence before the Commission on the war in South Africa, the Marquis of Landsdowne, who was Secretary of State for War when hostilities broke out, testified that the forecasts of his military advisors greatly underand their staying powers. Reports and minutes illustrated this assertion. The field force which his military advisors recommended was inadequate, although he then thought it an excess of precaution. ANTARCTIC EXPLORATION.

Captain Scott's Expedition.

London, March 27 .- Sir Clements Markam, the president of the Royal Geographical Society, interviewed on the reports of the expedition of the exploring steamer Discovery, states that Captain Scott's discovery indicates that land stretches to the pole in a series of lofty mountains. This he states, is the most important geographical result hitherto attained in Antarctic exploration.

Moreover, states Sir Clements Markham, the wintering of Captain Scott 400 miles beyond his predecessor's farthest will enable him to elucidate Antarctic meteorology, and make other investigations.

TRAGIC FATE OF A SEAMAN

A Sonsational Experience.

Christchurch, March 27,-A. B. Hare, of Lyttelton, one of the seamen who returned from the Discovery in the relief ship gives an interesting account of the death of A.B. J. Vince and his own marvellous escape. The party, under Lieutenant M. Barne, R.N., was returning from a sledge journey to Cape Crozier, when a blizzard struck them 10 miles from home. The blizzard was so bad that Lieu. tenant Barne decided to abandon the tents and sledges, leaving the dogs to find their own way back to the vessel. The snow was falling thickly, and the party could not see two yards shead. Huge drifts made locomotion very difficult. Vince and three others got ahead of the rest of the party, about four miles from the ship, on a long slope, which he descended, they reached what they thought was the edge, and began the descent. They had gone about half a mile, and were almost blinded by the snow, when Vince suddenly disappeared, apparently falling straight down, a yard or two in advance of the rest of the party. The others discovered they were on the edge of fallen, and narrowly escaped the same fate. The camp was formed, and M'Farlance was left behind with some of the party. Lieutenant Armitage, Messrs Skelton, Stock, Courtney, Evans, and myself going on, continued westward for four days, and gained the summit of the ice cap, where observations were taken. The view was extensive. We saw several points of new land, also inland ice descending in undulations to the ice barrier. To north we could see nothing but ice higher than that to the westward of us. 'On the return journey Lieutenant Armitage fell down a crevasse and hung suspended about 30ft, below the surface. As we were all harnessed together his fall to the bottom, probably about 000ft., was prevented. We got him back uninjured. We joined the party left with M'Farlane. On the way to the ship M'Farlane walked part of the distance slongside the sledge, but afterwards rode, the distance covered in this way being between 120 and 130 miles' Buckbridge speaks very highly of Captain Scott. STEARNS' WINE OF COD LIVER OIL AND ITS VALUE IN NEURALGIA.

Inclement changeable weather brings with it its usual plentiful crop of neuralgio pains, not to speak of colds and chills and influenza cases in abundance. This is the time when strength and vitality must be maintained at full power if these ailments are to be resisted. With a valuable tonic like Stearns' Wine of Cod Liver Oil at our right hand this may be easily effected. The following case will be of interest to many of our readers :-

THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY

This successful and highly popular remedy, as employed in the Continental Hospitals by Ricord, Rostan, Jobert, Velpeau, and others, combines all the desiderata to be sought in a medicine of the kind and surpasses everything bitherto employed. THERAPION No. 1 in a remarkably short time, often a few days only removes all discharges from the urinary organs, superseding injections, the use of which does irre-parable harm by laying the foundation of stricture and other serious diseases. for impurity of the blood, scurvy, pimples, spots, blotches, pains and swelling of the joints, secondary symptoms, gout, rhoumatism, and all diseases for which it has been too much a fashion to employ mercury, sarsaparilla, &c., to the destruction of sufferers' teeth and ruin of health. This presention purifies the whole, system through the paration purifies the whole system through the blood, and thoroughly eliminates every poisonous matter from the body.

THERAPION No. 3 forner-ous exhaustion, impaired vitality, sleepless ness, and all the distressing consequences of early error, excess, residence in hot, unbealthy climates,
